

Archaeopteryx Fossil Discovery Announced

On September 30, 1861, Hermann von Meyer announced the discovery of a Archaeopteryx specimen found near Langenaltheim. The Archaeopteryx is an extinct primitive toothed bird of the Jurassic period having a long feathered tail and hollow bones; usually considered the most primitive of all birds.