Many children with Autism play by themselves because they don’t know how to play with other kids.